

SDIPLA News

Robert J. Spar is the Director of the Office of Patent Legal Administration, (OPLA), under the Deputy Commissioner for Patent Examination Policy at the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO). A major responsibility of the OPLA is addressing policy initiatives involving the patent examination process. This includes developing, implementing and disseminating information about changes to patent examining practices and procedures via rulemaking, publishing notices in the Federal Register and the Official Gazette, modifying USPTO forms which are used both internally and externally, and distributing internal memoranda.

WEDNESDAY FEBRUARY 8TH MEETING
USPTO's CLAIMS AND CONTINUATIONS INITIATIVE
BY: BOB SPAR OF THE USPTO

Mr. Spar will be speaking on two proposed rule changes that were published on January 3, 2006 in the Federal Register. One of these, "Changes to Practice for the Examination of Claims in Patent Applications," proposes that the Patent Office will only do an initial examination on the claims designated by the applicant as representative claims. The representative claims will be all of the independent claims and only the dependent claims that are expressly designated by the applicant for initial examination. Thus, the Patent Office is delaying the examination of most of the dependent claims until the application is in condition for allowance. The other proposed change, "Changes to Practice for Continuing Applications, Requests for Continued Examination Practice, and Applications Containing Patentably Indistinct Claims," would require that second or subsequent continued examination filings, whether a continuation application, a continuation-in-part application, or a request for continued examination, be supported by a showing as to why the amendment, argument, or evidence presented could not have been previously submitted.

INGRASSIA FISHER & LORENZ, P.C.

WE LEFT THE BIG GENERAL PRACTICE FIRMS BEHIND

. . . because we knew we could run a better patent practice ourselves. Ingrassia, Fisher & Lorenz is now one of the largest intellectual property boutique firms in the southwest, and we are looking for qualified patent attorneys for our expanded San Diego office. We provide top quality counsel to some of the nation's best technology companies, and we do it in an environment that is relaxed, flexible, generously-compensated and savvy to the unique needs of patent attorneys. If you have outstanding technical skills, a deep commitment to client service, and a burning desire for life beyond the almighty billable hour, we'd like to talk to you. EE degree and at least five years of patent preparation and prosecution experience required.

Email resume and writing sample in confidence to recruiting@ifllaw.com.
